Lubricant Solutions with Technology that Cares

With more than 160 years of expertise, and due to the synergies of the CONDAT group's international structure (4 production units) and technical know-how, CONDAT lubricants are recognized as the global reference for wire drawing markets.

CONDAT offers an extensive range covering all industrial lubrication needs in the field of Cold Drawing /Rolling of Wires and Bars/Tubes. Products include non-reactive/reactive coatings, dry powder lubricants, oils, pastes, greases, rust preventatives, and degreasing products.

SOLVING DUST ISSUES

Wire drawing industry is more and more concerned about dust related issues. With this in mind, Condat will present a paper and hold a training course on dust reduction during INTERWIRE 2019.

Thanks to its long expertise, Condat will give technical guidelines for the selection and use of the most suitable dry drawing lubricants. The objectives being to significantly reduce the amount of dust generated in the workshop, improving productivity whilst also reducing total wiredrawing costs. Overall, the reduction of dust particles is central to lowering the exposure risk of operators and explosion hazards. It also reduces related maintenance costs and downtime.

LASTEST DEVELOPMENTS

During INTERWIRE exhibition, Condat will introduce its latest products dedicated to extra high tensile steelcord wire production. These include:

- a non-reactive surface coating booster for borax baths,
- high performance sodium soap based dry drawing lubricants, including borax free products.

These products have been developed for high speed drawing with low lubricant consumption and extended die life.

Condat will also present its new generation of lubricants for stainless steel and cold heading wire, all free from short and medium chain length chlorinated paraffins (short chain lengths are banned and medium chain lengths are subject to EPA regulations).

With a R&D laboratory of 45 people, and a large sales network of agents and distributors with high technical knowledge, CONDAT is ahead of the competition. They offer the wire drawing industry the most efficient lubricant solutions that meet the latest environmental, health & safety regulations.
